Falcon Enterprises Let's Make a Match Acceptance Test

Introduction

The Siena College Residence Life and Student Affairs Departments deals with matching hundreds of students as roommates each year. The current process used is paper based and is time consuming and produces random pairs of roommates.

"Let's Make a Match" is an online roommate pairing application that assists compatible roommates in their search to find each other. The application will allow roommates to create a personal profile of them, which will then be used to pair up students with similar profiles. Once the profiles have been matched, students may contact each other by using email addresses given through the application. If two students feel they are compatible they can submit a roommate request to Residence Life and their profiles will be flagged (an indicator that they have been matched).

Deliverables

Our deliverables include a hard copy and a compact disk containing our acceptance test document. The compact disc will also have our team website (with all of the past documents), project website, and our source listing.

Testing

To test our Let's Make a Match software, Black and White testing was used. To test the functionality of the software, and be sure that the functional requirements were met. Both the Students and the Administrator use cases were tested for the multiple functions that they were to perform.

White box testing, the testing of the internal workings such as the database, was used to be that data was stored correctly. When a user entered any information into the database from the user interface, the database was checked to be sure the data went in correctly. The queries behind the report were checked to be sure that there we no logical errors, and to be sure they returned the correct results.

We then had another student, that did not work on the project at all, test out the software, both student and administrator use cases, to be sure that it was easy to understand and use.
